Art Unit: 1742

1. The Examiner makes a new rejection in the continuing prosecution of this Application, including new art submitted in the IDS of 2/6/04.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Publication 10-340727 (JP'727).

JP'727 discloses a method of forming an electrode comprising:

providing a current collector (2);

providing a paste (5) to both sides of the current collector with dies (3);

drying (dessicating) the applied paste [0011]; and rolling (pressing) the dried paste [0011].

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1742

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 3-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP'727.

JP'727 discloses the invention substantially as claimed (see paragraph 3 above).

However, JP'727 does not disclose the relationship of electrode thickness, applied paste thickness and nozzle gap as claimed by Applicant.

JP'727 does disclose wherein the current collector has a thickness of 5-30 um (see JP'727 Claim 16), and in the third embodiment, discloses a thickness of 5-100 um.

JP'727 further discloses a mold gap distance of 100-1000 um (see Detailed Description [0016]).

JP'727 further discloses an example of dried electrode of 250 um (see Means [0021]).

Thus JP'727 discloses ranges and examples that are within ranges of the claimed ranges of Applicant, establishing a prima facie case of obviousness, allowing one of ordinary skill to determine the overall range of coating thickness, collector thickness, and final electrode thickness based on the selection of the collector and paste materials through routine experimentation based on the desired activity of the formed electrode. It is known in the prior art that both sides of the electrode be of similar activity, arrived by even active material material, determining this process parameter as controlled in the art, motivating one of ordinary skill to optimize the even application of the active material paste.
